Ius Laboris alliance wins The Lawyer's European Network of the Year Award

Ius Laboris, the world's largest alliance of independent human resources law firms, has been named European Network of the Year at The Lawyer's third annual European Awards, held at the Grand Hotel Kempinski in Geneva, on 28 September and hosted by BBC news presenter Mishal Husain.

The Lawyer European Awards offer Europe's finest lawyers the opportunity to gather to celebrate the most outstanding work over the previous 12 months. Award winners are determined by a panel of judges, including managing partners at leading European private practice firms and in-house counsel at multinational companies.

Now celebrating its 10th anniversary year, Ius Laboris is a global human resources alliance of preeminent firms from Europe, the Americas and the Asia-Pacific region. The Alliance brings together the world's leading legal experts in labour, employment, immigration, employee benefits and pensions.

Ius Laboris Executive Director, Sam Everatt said: "We are proud to have won Europe's premier legal award. It is particularly important as this year also marks the Alliance's 10th anniversary. The award is a welcome acknowledgement of our unrivalled commitment to maintaining and monitoring quality, and the collaborative approach between member firms to provide clients with consistently high quality legal services wherever they do business worldwide."
